"Its local guide for cities, towns, neighborhoods, states, counties, metropolitan worships, postal conditions, code of area and schools in the United States." New! Iminconize your files with the cloud! Synchronize your desk using the Cigã¼eã ± al of the Udrive client, the connecting rods and the pistons to resist the high pressures of a diesel engine, the Cigã¼eã ± al for the EE20 engine was subjected to a superficial treatment for greater resistance. In addition, the magazines of the Cigã¼eã ± al were made of aluminum and cast iron due to the high pressure applied on both on the side of the cylinder block. The forged connecting rods would have divided fracture bearings for the end of the ciga ± al and an ash -tricious profile that increased precise during the assembly. The pistons would have internal cooling channels, while the oil jets in the cadter sprayed the lower part of the pistons. Cylinder cylinder The EE20 engine had an aluminum alloy cylinder head that was 17 mm more thin than the engine E[20. In addition, the admission ports and the diameter of the admission vines were designated to create an air start effect when it entered the combustion of combustion. The EE20 engine has double ceiling cams (DOHC) by cylinder bank that were driven â € à € à Ć by a chain and a gear with a speed reduction gear. The four vigilas per cylinder (two intake and two escapes) were operated by pivot roller rollers. IHI Turbocompressor The EE20 engines have IHI turbocharger with variable nozzle turbines (VNT). In general, the VNT use movil pallets in the turbine housing to adjust the flow of a turbine to perform the comparable speed of exhaust gases and the subsequent pressure throughout the engine's revolution range. To improve the engine's torque at speeds below 1800 rpm, the nozzle paddles would approach to reduce the air route and increase the airflow speed. HigherHowever, vans will open to reduce air flow resistance and improve fuel consumption. Initially, the turbocharger was placed under the engine. For the Euro 6 EE20 engine, it is understood that the turbocharger was transferred to the lower right of the engine. It is understood that the maximum turbine speed for IHI turbocompressors used in the EE20 engine is 190,000 rpm. Injection and combustion The DIAL EURO 4 and EURO 5 EE20 engines had a common dense injection system with injectors of eight holes, solenoid type that achieved an injection pressure of 180 MPa. For the Euro 6 EE20 engine, however, the injection pressure increased to 200 MPa. For the EE20 engine, the injectors were placed in a number of almost 90 degrees to the cylinder and were shorter 40-50 mm than those used in the four-cylinder diesel engines in a line. The Euro 5 and the euro are understood that 6 EE20 engines have cerile type shine plugs. EGR and DPF The EE20 diesel engine had a water -cooled exhaust -refrigerated exhaust gas (EGR) system that recirculated exhaust gases to intake to reduce combustive temperatures and reduce NOX emissions. Euro 5 and Euro 6 EE20 engines had a closed closing seal filter (DPF). Both the oxidation catalyst and the DPF were placed next to the turbocharger to use the heat of the exhaust air. Alternator The EE20 diesel engine alternator had a voltage load control system that, to reduce the loading of the engine in the engine, reduced the load voltage when the vehicle was idling or driven at a constant speed and increased the voltage to low speed. Changes in euros The EE20 diesel engine compatible with Euro 6 emissions was introduced in the sub -bs outback subaru in 2014 and the SJ Sub. II Forester in 2015. In relation to the Euro 5 version, For the Euro 6 EE20 engine they include: a block of open cover cylinders; an increase in piston crown capacity; A new piston piston skirt cladding was introduced friction; Reduction of the compression rate to 15.2: 1 at a lower temperature of combustion and reduction of NOX emissions; An injection system of fourth -generation commission was introduced for a greater injection pressure (200 MPA, previously 180 MPA) and a finer fuel spray; Each diesel injector had an integrated unit to reduce the fuel leakage, the fuel pump load and improve the fuel economy; The turbocharger was relocated to the lower right of the engine (previously under the engine) and a better control of the vain was achieved; The specifications of the Dia © Sel (DPF) substrate were reviewed and the regeneration performance was best. The type and amount of precious metals in the oxidation catalyst and the DPF catalyst were also checked; The Idelers number used in the auxiliary band system was reduced; A more precise battery current, tension and temperature was modified; and, the rear flange and support material, exhaust pipe and final plate material for oxidation prevention.
